

Condux International, Inc. (Training Seminars)

2010 Training Schedule

Product Knowledge is important to you

That's why Condux offers in-depth product information and hands-on product training. An outdoor training facility complements our classroom training. This unique outdoor center offers you and your staff Condux product training in actual job settings. The outdoor facility has precast manholes (wired for electricity), four conduit runs, power poles at perimeter and two hand-holes.

The training facility is conveniently located at the company headquarters in Mankato, MN. Participants work in both classroom and hands-on settings, with involvement in a variety of product installations over a one-day period.

Representatives and distributors can then translate their greater product knowledge into more sales. End users benefit from product training by learning how to productively and safely use Condux cable installation equipment.

Formal training sessions are planned for both distributors and end users during the summer months. However, space is limited and reservations are required.
